Tracey Massey's Journey to Revitalize The O Bar

With experiences ranging from holding the position of Chief Operating Officer at NielsonIQ to managing rental properties in the Siesta Key area and even being the Global President of Mars Pet Nutrition- it might be easier to say what Tracey Massey hasn't done than what she has. Her new venture? A sports bar in Osprey that she intends to bring back to life.

"I didn't grow up with much and had to work multiple jobs when I was young to support myself. A lot of people think things are just handed to you, but you have to work hard for yourself," Said Massey.

Originally from the United Kingdom, Massey graduated from Loughborough University in England with a Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering. # OUR ANGLE

Following our meeting with the client, we wanted to focus on expanding the bar's clientele to a younger crowd and continuing the beloved image of the establishment that previous ownership had curated. As two young people, we were able to give insight into the aspects of popular bars and what makes them so successful which can be used to bring in a younger crowd.

WHAT WE LEARNED FROM OUR CLIENT

We learned from our client that being able to provide a younger perspective can be an advantage. Tracey Massey was very insightful and uplifting and we were able to learn how to use positive feedback to our advantage and create content that met her expectations.

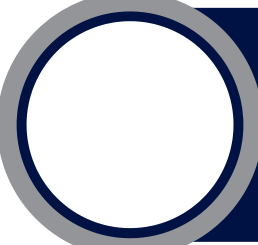

On a more personal note, our client was very inspirational and will be a role model for both of us going forward. Seeing a woman be so successful in so many different areas of business and life proves that women not only belong in the business sphere, but that they can succeed and lead as well.

NEW SKILLS THAT WE INTEGRATED

-  Collaboration
-  Adaptability
-  Communication

BIGGEST CHALLENGE

Our biggest challenge was staying on top of the work load along with our other classes. There was a lot of work involved and it was a challenge to get work done ahead of time.

IN CLASS

Key takeaways from class that we were able to implement into this client project had a lot to do with being able to handle feedback in a positive way. We learn in class how important and valuable feedback is.
